An invitation from the Army Headquarters offering Modern School students to witness their training and martial activities, made our eager young students visit the Rajputana Rifles Centre (RAJRIF Centre) at Delhi Cantonment on 28th September 2018. The Rajputana Rifles Centre is one of the most senior rifle regiments of the Indian Army, originally raised in 1921 as part of the British Indian Army. The students were exposed to their rich heritage and valourous history during their visit to the museum, followed by the tactics and endeavours showcasing demonstrations of pluck and heroism. Scenes were created portraying real life situations where the brave soldiers proceeded to carry out their tasks in the defence of our nation. They also got an opportunity to interact with the army officers, which motivated many to think of choosing the armed forces as their profession in the future.
